

Major sonar contract win

Drumgrange has won a major contract from the MoD for the support and advancement of sonar systems. The contract will provide dedicated operational support for the next three years and involves installation, fitting, de-fitting, and sea calibrations.

In competition from other major UK defence contractors, Drumgrange offered the best technical ability at the most competitive price, backed by an outstanding customer service track record. Managing Director, George Howe commented: "This contract reflects the MoD's confidence in our people and their expertise in managing technical challenges, and is a testament to their commitment to customer service."
